Well it's finally here, the day after Labor Day. The summer is officially over.

Did you know its 265 days until Memorial Day in 2016? Yes... it's that far!

If you are like me, you sat on your deck next to the BBQ this weekend... and instead of daydreaming... you were already starting to think about all the things you were able to put off in the last few weeks thinking you would just "get to them after labor day."
