

12.1.2016, Chalfont, PA... Heather McCloskey, CEO of McCloskey Partners, LLC named one of the Top Most Admired CEOs for 2016 by Philadelphia Business Journal.

When asked, "In your opinion, what makes a great leader?"

Heather McCloskey: There are so many attributes of a great leader. For me, one of the most important is to not get caught up in the small stuff and remind myself to focus on the big picture. For me, to be a great leader you need to love what you do. When we love what we do, others want to be a part of what have to offer and are more inclined to follow us as the business twists and turns.

For me, Steve Jobs said it best about loving what we do,

Steve Jobs Quote: "Your work is going to fill a large part of your life, and the only way to be truly satisfied is to do what you believe is great work. And the only way to do great work is to love what you do. If you haven't found it yet, keep looking. Don't settle. As with all matters of the heart, you'll know when you find it. And, like any great relationship, it just gets better and better as the years roll on. So keep looking until you find it. Don't settle."

Good leaders don't settle for average and instead are able to persevere and hone in on long term goals and they help their team accomplish those goals all the while truly loving what they do. So much that others see how much leaders love what they do and want to join that team.
